

Lima Growers Not Threatened By Over-Production

BIG YEAR FOR ORANGE COUNTY BEAN MEN SEEN

Despite the fact that in many sections of the country bean growers are being warned by the department of agriculture to keep in mind the possibility of over-production in 1929, there is no possibility of lima bean producers in this county flooding the market, County Auditor W. C. Jerome, director in the California Lima Bean Growers' association, said today. Due to the fact that lima and blackeye beans are specialized crops and are raised largely in Orange county, there is no chance of over-production, Jerome said.

With another inch of rain bean growers in this section would see ahead of them as good a year as they ever had, he declared. Even without the moisture, a smaller crop would bring higher prices and would mean a good return to the growers, in Jerome's opinion.

These conditions make Orange county's white spot a little whiter, for the department of agriculture has warned of the possibility of over-production in other varieties of beans, pointing out that intended increases over acreage harvested in 1928 would result in a crop about 2,000,000 bushels in excess of probable domestic consumption. An average yield in 1929, on an acreage 10 per cent greater than that harvested in 1928, would produce about the supply needed, but an increase materially above 10 per cent, especially if the yield should be above average, would incur danger of a surplus, the department of agriculture report said.

Lima and blackeye bean growers in Orange county will not have to worry over this situation, however, Jerome said. He called attention to the fact that present supplies of limas and blackeyes were nearing exhaustion, thus reducing possible competition with the 1929 crop. The total stocks of regular limas in all California warehouses on April 1 were only about 125,000 bags, compared with 245,500 on April 1, last year, and 466,200 on April 1, 1927, Jerome said. It is estimated that the stocks of baby limas on April 1, 1929, totalled about 45,000 bags, compared with 45,000 bags a year ago and 179,000 bags two years ago.

The California Lima Bean Growers' association, up to April 25, will have paid $8.50 per 100 pounds on regular limas and so far has paid $7 per 100 pounds on baby limas. Further payments will be made on both, but there is a small amount remaining unsold and the dates of payments cannot be forecast because of light buying following heavy purchases in early months of this year. Even with heavy buying between now and planting time the association must retain a surplus as a seed reserve in case of rain or worm damage which might require replanting, it was pointed out.

Orange Juice Second Most Popular Drink

Here's news which may be of interest to the thirsty ones of Orange county. Valencia orange juice consumption in the United States is second only to the absorption of that famous five-cent drink which has a name of two words, both of which are about the same.

This fact was revealed today by R. E. Headley, assistant manager of the Orange County Fruit exchange.

According to Headley 85 per cent of the Valencia orange crop gets "squeezed" and is enjoyed by millions in the form of juice.

and give them hope that eventually they would be saved. Drums of petrol were dropped, also, with which the flyers hope to be able to take off when they have regained sufficient strength. Their fuel had been exhausted in a ten-hour battle with tropical fog and rain on Easter Sunday, forcing them down.

After two days of waiting beside their fuelless plane, the aviators said they found themselves too weak to attempt the walk through the almost impenetrable bush of the rugged country for the 20 miles to the Fort George mission.

Pilot Heath took off from the jungle, bearing messages of thanks to the citizens of Sydney, after the joyous Southern Cross crew had surrounded him and celebrated their happiness with the "Froth Blowers' son."

"We experienced a terrible time and are still weak from starvation," Capt. C. T. P. Ulm wrote in his message to Sydney friends. "But we will return to Sydney, recondition the Southern Cross and start another flight to England."

Grave concern for the safety of Pilot Keith Anderson, who disappeared while searching for the Southern Cross, tempered the rejoicing over the finding alive of Kingford-Smith and his companion.

BODY OF AVIATOR FOUND BY GUARDS

GUMBO, Mo., April 15.—(UPI)—National guardmen today found the body of Lieut. Shapley Gray, who leaped from a "dead" plane near here last night en route to St. Louis from Jefferson City. His parachute had not opened. The body was discovered in underbrush near where the plane had crashed. His companion, Capt. William B. Wimmer, pilot of the plane, escaped by means of a parachute.

EXTRA SESSION OF CONGRESS OPENED TODAY

representative Hawley of Oregon and the Democrats went through the useless motions of nominating Representative Garner of Texas as their candidate. Call of the roll showing Longworth's nomination required 45 minutes.

Longworth was re-elected as speaker of the house of representatives for the 71st congress. Longworth defeated Rep. J. N. Garner Dem., Texas, on a strictly party vote.

Senator James E. Watson the new majority floor leader of the senate, was working on a change of plans in conference with his advisers. The new farm bill has been bottled up in the senate committee because democrats want to add a clause allowing the proposed federal farm board to use the debenture plan in case of emergency.

A meeting of the committee had been scheduled for this morning but Chairman McNary called it off because he had not yet received word from the department of agriculture as to whether the administration would stand for the debenture plan. He expects this word by tomorrow.

This delay will probably prevent the bill from being brought up in the senate Wednesday. After hearing Mr. Hoover's message tomorrow, the senate may adjourn until Thursday and then if the farm bill is not ready, recess until next Monday.

Watson likes this plan because it would prevent senators from bringing up and discussing measures aside from farm relief and tariff revision, including prohibition and Wall street speculation.

The senate adjourned at 12:25 p.m. after a 25 minute routine session until noon tomorrow.

Divorce Granted To Mrs. Ballard, Formerly Of S. A.

Mrs. May Spurgeon Ballard was given a divorce in Los Angeles, Saturday, from R. H. Ballard, president of the Southern California Edison company. A property settlement was approved by Judge McComb, who heard the testimony on which the divorce was based.

Mrs. Ballard was a resident of Santa Ana when she married Ballard, in 1901. In her testimony to the court, Mrs. Ballard said that her husband had not loved her for several years and that he recently became very cold toward her. She testified that Ballard had asked their daughter to come from New York and maintain a home for him.

Mrs. Ballard was an adopted daughter of Granville Spurgeon, a brother of William Spurgeon, founder of Santa Ana.

OFFER IS MADE BY INSURGENTS FOR SURRENDER

Gen. Francisco Manzo, who escaped into the United States last week, joined in the surrender offer.

President Emilio Portes Gil reiterated yesterday his reply to the surrender offer—that any surrender must be unconditional. The president said the leaders must submit to trials by military courts, but promised to give "generous treatment within the limits of military statutes," especially to those who were "dragged into the revolution."

"Intellectual authors" must expect severe penalties for their part in the revolt, the president said.

Gen. Fausto Topete aided Gen. Manzo to escape into the United States, dispatches from Nogales published in newspapers here said.

The accounts said Manzo was tried by a court martial consisting of Gen. J. Gonzalo Escobar, rebel commander in chief, Gen. Ignacio Almada and Gen. Topete among others, and condemned to death.

Gen. Topete interceded for him, however, and enabled him to escape.

Gen. Manzo was charged with failure to capture Mazatlan and with treason to the rebel cause.

Rebels north of El Pupito canyon were bombarded by federal planes both Saturday and yesterday, advices from Gen. Lucas Gonzalez, federal commander at Naco, said.

"DEAD" PLANE BROUGHT DOWN BY PARACHUTE HERE SUNDAY

In the opinion of E. H. Dimity, president of the company manufacturing the safety device, the landing and operation of the plane was perfect.

It was approximately 5:20 o'clock when the daring aviator took off from Martin field to engage in an experiment that meant either success for the device or possible serious injury to himself. He carried a parachute on his back as an added protection in event of failure of the chute to open and properly control descent of the plane.

It is estimated 15,000 persons witnessed the demonstration from the Martin airport, while thousands of others viewed the scene and without injury to himself.

from homes and street, and all got a thrill out of the event. The plane spun at times and at other times swayed much as does a person in descending from a high altitude by chute.

Men and women prominent in movie and aviation circles in the Southland were present, among them Wallace Beery, who came down from Hollywood in his travelair cabin plane, accompanied by a group of friends.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Butler and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Maier, of this city, were the first persons to reach the plane after it landed and they found the aviator standing by the side of the plane happy that he had accomplished the feat of landing with a "dead plane" and without injury to himself.

The Rev. Mr. Bayard spoke at the 11 o'clock hour Sunday on the subject, "Why I Believe In Jesus the Christ." His 7:30 o'clock subject was "Those Who Sit on the Side Lines." The evening offertory was a violin duet by Lawrence Wright and Chisholm Brown, "The Palms."

BISHOP BURNS OFFICIATES AT EVENT SUNDAY

FULLERTON, April 15.—More than 1000 people crowded into the new $160,000 Methodist Episcopal church yesterday to witness the dedicatory services. Bishop Charles Wesley Burns preached the morning sermon and dedicated the church.

The morning services were opened at 10 a. m. with an organ prelude, "Toccata in D Minor."

This was followed by the call to worship by the singing of "The Lord is in His Holy Temple."

This was followed by a solo, "The Lord is My Light," by Lola Case Blakie.

The first lesson was read by Dr. H. W. Peak, followed by the singing of "Gloria Patri" by the congregation.

The second lesson was read by the Rev. T. G. Aten.

Excursion tickets and seats are on sale at The Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce and at The Motor Transit stage depot. The public is asked to make reservations early on account of the increased demand for tickets this year.

The excursion will be personally conducted by A. M. Thomas, manager here for The Motor Transit company. At noon the busses will stop in Riverside, where lunch may be obtained.

A WORD OF COMFORT

An old proverb reads: "The fear of the Lord is better than the fear of wisdom." This does not count you to be afraid of God; it means that reluctance to hurt God by violating His will is the right motive and the first step toward realizing that God's power indeed, only that which is best for your soul, and that which alone can bring you abiding satisfaction, self-fulfillment and peace.

Do not be afraid of God, nor retreating toward Him. He is striving to sustain you and to carry you through the hard days unto unending joy. Let Him into your life.

SEWING CIRCLE RELIEF CORPS WOMEN MEET IN RECEIVES TWO WASSUM HOME NEW MEMBERS

When circumstances arose making it impossible for Mrs. H. C. Moberly to entertain the Calumet Auxiliary Sewing circle on Wednesday afternoon as was first announced, Mrs. Howard Wassum, auxiliary president, came to the rescue and offered the friendly hospitality of her home on East Fruit street to the members, who assembled there for an enjoyable history.

Mrs. Gertrude Rowe, Mrs. Lula Chatlain and Mrs. Katherine Reagan formed the hostess committee, and in honor of the occasion, aided by Mrs. Wassum, converted the home into a veritable flower garden by the lavish use of spring's colorful blossoms.

As the guests gave their attention to needlework, they joined in lively chat with an occasional intrusion of business amateurs, including plans for financing the trip of the drill team to the convention in Sacramento, May 12 to 15. Announcement was made also of the special invitation extended the departmental drill team of Los Angeles, to be present at the auxiliary meeting next Tuesday night in K. of P. hall, to exemplify the work.

Refreshments dauntly served by the hostesses, were enjoyed by Madame Bertha E. Dixon, Adella Anderson, Elizabeth Erickson, Eleanor Shaw, Clo Showalter and little daughter Margaret, Frances Moulton, Elvira Kirk, Marie Lindquist, Julia A. Williams, Ella J. Charles, Emma Kellogg, Lillian M. Hubbard, and three guests, Mrs. Antonia E. Moebius, and Mrs. Wassum's house-guests, Mrs. T. E. Barnard and her daughter, Mrs. Margaret Fetch of Lakeview, Ore.

R. N. A. DRILL TEAM TO ATTEND MEETING

When the Royal Neighbors held their latest meeting in M.W.A. hall, plans were completed for attending the district convention in Long Beach municipal auditorium, April 18. There will be both an afternoon and an evening session, and at the latter, the local drill team under the captaincy of Mrs. Marie Knight, district president, will present a colonial drill for which rehearsals are being held. All members will be in charming costume of that period of national history.

Arrangements have been made for the Neighbors to charter a bus for the occasion, and those wishing to make reservations may do so through Mrs. Charles Tibbets, 1675 W., or Mrs. Chester Scott, 591 W. Orange members wishing to avail themselves of the privilege may do so also, it was explained.

Before the meeting closed, a committee under the chairmanship of Mrs. Bess Simmons, served refreshments.

PLAYERS TURN ATTENTION TO PLANS FOR DRAMA TOURNEY, TO BE HELD HERE MAY 25-27

Gratified by the success attending the fourth and last Santa Ana Community Players' production of the season, "Officer 666," presented Saturday night in the Yost Surgeon street theater, members of Players' organization today were turning with renewed interest to plans for the annual one-act play tournament, for which they will be sponsors and which will be held in the Polytechnic high school auditorium April 25, 26 and 27.

"Officer 666" attracted large crowds at the Saturday night performance, following the enthusiasm aroused among patrons of the first two nights. Miss Edith Cornell directing the play, was accorded high praise for the manner in which her cast interpreted it. The first night's performance was attended by an average size audience, which was appreciably increased on the remaining nights until the final presentation drew one of the largest crowds of the year, succeeding in silencing the howls of the wolves who have threatened the peace and prosperity of the Players.

The annual tournament, which will follow so shortly, now is in its third year, the plan having been conceived two years ago in the mind of a prominent member of the Players' association, Mrs. William N. Cummings. The first tournament met with the approval of "Little Theater groups" from all parts of the Southland and during the two nights of one-act plays some excellent talent was shown. Honors went to Whittier with a cast containing a former popular star of Santa Ana productions, R. R. ("Rusty") Miller, with second place taken by Santa Monica. Two handsome silver time of the convention the first week in May. Reports showed that 38 bouquets, two potted Easter lilies and three birthday clusters of flowers to veterans, had been distributed in the past month, with 68 calls made, and $52 expended on patriotic work.

The social tea to be held Friday, April 19, will be in the home of Mrs. G. B. Darnell, 208 South Sycamore street. Those named to serve on the committee were the Misses Minnie Cowan, Adda Cowan, LaVerne Harrell, Mesdames Elizabeth Millen, Myrtle Shields, Helen Swanner, Jessie Ereckenridge, Bernice Sweezy and Emma Chapman.

EARL S. WAITE, WELL KNOWN IN S. A. SUCCUMBS

Earl S. Waite, one of Southern California's pioneer general contractors and builders, passed away in his home, at 845 Olive avenue, Long Beach, yesterday morning. Mr. Waite was well known in Santa Ana, where many years ago he built many homes, school houses and churches.

He was the father of Mrs. D. Eymann Huff, of Hewes par; Miss Margaret A. Waite, art supervisor of the Long Beach city schools; Verner R. Waite, of Encinitas, and A. Crew Waite, of Lindsey, all of whom survive him. His wife, Inez C. Waite, died two years ago, since which time Mr. Waite has not been well, having been confined to his bed and under the care of physicians and trained nurses for the last 14 months.

Mr. Waite was a friend of the late Judge E. T. Langley, having studied law with him in the east. He went into the contracting and building business when he came to California, in 1882. Mr. Waite was 75 years old and was a member of the Masonic fraternity for many years.

Masonic funeral services will be held at 10 a. m., Wednesday, in the Patterson and McQuilekin Funeral parlors, 555 Locust avenue, Long Beach. Interment will be in Forest Lawn cemetery, Glendale.

MRS. BUER, 78, PASSES AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Mrs. Lizzie Buer, mother of Otto Buer, of the Orange county state traffic squad, died Saturday in her home, 430 South Glassell street, Orange, after a lingering illness. She was 78 years of age. Funeral services will be held in St. John's Lutheran church, Orange, at 2 p. m., tomorrow, with the Rev. A. C. Bode, pastor, officiating, and with the Gillogly Funeral home in charge.

Mrs. Buer is survived by her husband, John F. Buer, and three sons and four daughters, Georges H., Lincoln, Neb.; Henry, Long Beach; Otto, Orange; Miss Louise Buer and Mrs. Horace Hilyard, Orange; Mrs. Henry Lemke, Fremont, Neb.; and Mrs. George P. Meier, Crofton, Neb.

Mrs. Buer had been a resident of Orange for 26 years, coming to that city with her family from Hooper, Neb. She was one of the pioneer women of Nebraska and prior to retirement of her husband from wheat growing in Nebraska upon removal to Orange had experiences that benefit only those who pioneered in developments of the early days.

When she was a bride and she and her husband homesteaded property in Nebraska, that section was inhabited by many Indians. Her recital of experiences with the red men were of deep interest, relating, as she did, many instances in which Indians would stick their heads through windows of the Buer cabin on the plains in quest of something to eat. The Indians always made their appearance, she said, when they were certain that Mr. Buer was not at home. Because of her generosity and her kindness to them, the Indians never attempted to harm her.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

George Phipps, with the Tigers, is a brother of the Yanks' Phipps . . . and he reported weighing 245 pounds . . . and has a craving for milk . . . but has to stick to water . . . or else . . . and he lost 22 pounds the first week of practice . . . The All-Americans are hot in baseball now . . . Wes Fesler is Sislering for Ohio State . . . and so is Warner Mizell at Georgia Tech . . . and Dale Vansickel at Florida is a crack outfielder. The Atlantas want to beat Uncle Robby out of Catcher Gooch . . . but Jack Hendricks says Gooch won't ever get out of the league . . . Earl Combs cracked Myles Thomas over the left eye in batting practice . . . and there were seven stitches in it for Thomas . . . And a severe shock for Miller Huggins . . . Reynolds, the White Sox outfielder, is the fastest man in baseball . . . They say . . . The American league ball players say that Ehmke, the A's pitcher, doctors the ball . . . But that he uses two gloves . . . And they can never get a look at the one with the works in it . . . Paul Seull, Penn's All-American fullback, quit the baseball squad this spring . . . And is going out for the golf team . . . It's a good thing for the Cleveland Indians that there aren't so many good southpaw pitchers in the league . . . Their club is loaded down with left-hand hitters.

NO TRACK FOR GOOSE

Washington's chances for getting some place in the American league race this year depend in no small part upon the arm of "Goose" Goslin. The Goose will hit, of course, and will assist in the manufacture of plenty of runs, but if he can't throw any better than he did for the major part of the campaign last year he will let in more runs than he can knock in.

Walter Johnson wasn't quite sure when we talked to him in Tampa that the Goose's arm was better.

"The boys on the club tell me that he was throwing well in the last month of the season and he tells me that it is all right," Johnson said. But later reports have it that his arm is not strong and that he is trying to cultivate an underhand throw.

There has been somewhat of a mystery about the exact cause of his disabled wing last year. Buck Harris said he wasn't certain and that Goose had never told him. There was the popular story that he had thrown his arm out trying to show some southern college boys how to pitch the shot.

Johnson made a rather significant remark in this connection when we were talking to him.

"I'm going to make Goslin nurse his arm until we get ready to start the season," he said. "And I'll tell you one thing—if we hit any town on the way north where there is a track meet going on, Goslin will not be allowed near the place."

EXPENSIVE ORNAMENT

It must have been a pain in the neck to Colonel Jake Ruppert when Miller Huggins announced that $125,000 worth of young shortstop from California wouldn't do and that Durocher would work in place of Lyn Lary. But Huggins had his way when he said that young Lary had a lot to learn about fielding and that there wasn't a place for him to learn on a championship club.

Huggins said the main defects in the young fellow's mechanics were that he held his hands to far back in taking a ground ball and that he got himself off balance every time he made a throw.

There is no doubt that a $125,000 youngster would have had some box office value, but there is more color in "Mouthy" Durocher than there ever will be in Lary. Durocher is one of the cocky type that arrives only once in a decade.

It might be disputed that Lary is a $125,000 ball player, but the Yanks put out that much dough for Lary and Reese and they turned back Roos to his original owners without even giving him a trial. So far good Colonel Ruppert figures that the youngster on his bench set him back all those gramps.

REST FOR BAD ARMS

Hoyle, Pippins, Johnson, Helman, Zachary and Rhodes will have to carry the pitching load for the Yankees through the early part of the season, Huggins announced when he broke camp.

Pencock and Cy Moore, who blew last year with bad arms, are to be permitted to take their own time in getting their wings ready and Huggins indicated they would not be called upon to pitch until they came to him and assured him they were ready to go. And even at that time the doctor would have to pass judgment.

All matches must be completed before next Sunday night.

Hudkins And Emanuel Set For Ring Go

LOS ANGELES, April 15.—Ace Hudkins, regarded as the next best middleweight to Mickey Walker, steps out of his weight class tonight to box 10 rounds with Armand Emanuel, light heavyweight, at Wrigley field here.

Should Emanuel weigh more than 178 pounds or Hudkins less than 166 pounds, the bout will not be permitted the boxing commission ruled. Despite his weight disadvantage, the "Nebraska Wildcat" was a 10 to 8 favorite in the betting.

James J. Jeffries makes his first official appearance in a boxing ring in California since he held the heavyweight title 20 years ago, when he goes in to referee the fight.

GUYER BEATEN IN 100, BREAKS RECORD IN 220

A poor start cost "Ramblin' Red" Guyer, Santa Ana junior college track captain, whatever chance he might have had to defeat Frank Wykoff, the national sprint champion, in the 100 yard dash at Saturday's Southern California J. C. meet at San Bernardino but the imperturbable redhead came right back in the 220 and established a new conference record of 21.6-10 seconds.

Guyer's second place in the 100 and his first in the 220 gave the Dons eight of the 11 points they were able to score against a field that was outclassed by Glendale junior college which proved an easy winner with 45 points.

Pasadena took second with 22½, Fullerton third with 23, Compton fourth with 22½, Long Beach fifth with 15 and Santa Ana sixth with 12. Riverside, San Bernardino, Chaffey, Citrus and Pomona trailed behind them.

There will be four new managers, many new faces and a few new rules for this season's fans.

Hoover to See Game

President Hoover is to try out his arm at Griffith stadium, with Walter Johnson, the new manager but old favorite of the Washington Senators, on the receiving end of the executive peg. Among those present will be George Moriarty, who manager the Detroit Tigers last season and now wears an umpire's uniform once more.

"Bucky" Harris, for a number of seasons pilot of the Senators, will lead his new club, the Tigers, into action at Cleveland.

Since the fate of all pennant winning Bill McKechnie, the Cardinal will be managed this year by Billy Southworth, promoted from Rochester. The fourth new manager is Judge Emil Fuchs, chunky, pugnacious owner of the Boston Braves, who sold Rogers Hornsby to Chicago and decided it wasn't worth while hiring anyone to manage what was left of his club.

ANNOUNCE PAIRINGS FOR SONS' TOURNEY

Parings for first round matches in the Santa Ana Country club's Father and Son golf tournament were announced today as follows:

MISSING FIGURES AND SOME NEW FACES

Missing faces and new ones feature the opening of another baseball season. Ty Cobb and Tris Speaker, two of the greatest players ever in baseball, are missing from the major league this season. Speaker has retired, Speaker is managing the Newark Internationals. The prominent new faces—and perhaps one or more will prove one of the greats of the game—include Outfielders Porter and Averill with Cleveland, Pitcher Ad Liska with Washington, Catcher Ferrell with St. Louis Browns, Shortstop Charley Gelbert with St. Louis Cards, and Outfielder Johnson with Detroit.

SPURGEON WINS CHAMPIONSHIP ON CINDERPATH

Spurgeon school today was crowned as track and field champion of Santa Ana's entire elementary school system following the first annual meet at Poly field Saturday in which all 12 of the grade institutions in the city participated.

The Spurgeon athletes, coached by Miss Emily McClain, rolled up a total of 47½ points for the day.

Edison school placed second with 31½ and Roosevelt third with 26½. Lincoln was fourth with 24, Lowell fifth with 18½, Franklin sixth with 15½, Jefferson seventh with 15½, Artesia eighth with 12, Delhi ninth with 10½, John Muir and McKinley tied for tenth with the "Glendale Greyhound."

Blanchard Beatty threw the javelin better than 160 feet to take second place and Joe Warner third; Joe Warner (Santa Ana), fourth; Time—51.4 seconds.

Ten conference records were broken and another equalled by the competitors who, as a class, were far superior to any that ever before contested for the junior college title.

Wykoff did not toe the mark in the furlong and Guyer raced to a convincing victory over Tschirhart of Pasadena; Barnes of Long Beach, and Slocum of Glendale, third; Slocum (Glendale), fourth; Time—21.6-10 seconds.

Ten conference records were broken and another equalled by the competitors who, as a class, were far superior to any that ever before contested for the junior college title.

inches higher than he ever had before to tie with two others for third place, and Doyle Gilbert, who made the best clearance of his career in the broad jump to get an unexpected fourth.

Reboin was in marvelous form. With a little rabbit's foot charm pinned to his breast, this sturdy constructed youngster ran away from his field in both hurdles. He won the high sticks in 15.3:5 seconds, three yards ahead of McLaughlin, of Long Beach, and negotiated the lows in 25.1/5 with his teammate, Paul, three yards behind. Then to wind up his amazing day's work, Reboin defeated the world's interscholastic pole vault champion, Bill Miller, by clearing 12 feet with inches to spare. Miller, who is consistent at 13 feet, was badly off form. He was suffering from two ankles but recently sprained and did well to save second place.

Paul First in Two Events

Paul's performances were no less sensational. On his first attempt he put the shot 47 feet, 9-1/8 inches, the best he ever has done, and it stood up for a first place. With less than a week's training he ran a splendid flight of low hurdles, outdistancing all opponents except Reboin. He started a bit uncertainly but soon got into proper stride and at the end was going along like a veteran and with Reboin leaving a surprised field far behind. Then, on a slow runway and almost immediately after running his hurdles, he won the broad jump with a leap of 21 feet, 7 1/2 inches.

The first race of the day, the 880, was a grueling one which Cone, jostled on one of the turns, won in a driving finish. Sechrist, of Long Beach, set the pace and was 10 yards ahead 200 from home. Cone, running in third place most of the journey, began his sprint at this point, soon ran Sechrist into submission and had enough left to win by several yards. Smith, of Long Beach, with his guns, however, and on the last lap slipped up into second position and set out after Dowers who had built up a substantial lead. Donahue cut the advantage slowly but surely and was only two yards back at the wire. The time, 4:40.4, was fast considering the condition of the track. Donahue ran under 4:42.

Jaques was a pleasing surprise in the high jump. He was hard-pressed to get a place but he kept right on clearing the bar at every raise, finally getting over 5 feet, 9 inches, at which he tied with Reed of San Diego and Jarvis of Long Beach.

The results:

Addresses Heard Yesterday In Santa Ana Churches

DEATH WINS NO
VICTORY, SAYS
REV. HATTER

"But thanks be to God, which shield us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ."

This pealing note of victory over death sent forth by St. Paul, ages ago, gave the Rev. W. J. Hatter, rector of the Church of the Messiah, the text for the morning sermon yesterday, with "The Triumph of Easter" as the topic. He said in part:

"Standing by the grave of a dear one such words seem mockery. Where is the victory? All seems black, the heart is crushed with its load of anguish, the mind seems stunned with its weight of woe. All is gone."

"Words are so useless. Why try to comfort with such words, as these, 'O death, where is thy sting?' You ask where. Are these words of mockery? You ask where is the sting? Look at the tears, look at the forms bowed with grief; look at the broken home. Then ask where is the sting. Oh grave, where is thy victory? You ask that. When it has enveloped the dear one, the words ashes to ashes, dust to dust have fallen like clogs upon anguished hearts, you ask where is thy victory, grave? Why, there it is."

"Death and the grave have swallowed up everything through the ages. Where is the culture, the art, the beauty of Greece? The power that was Rome? The hordes of barbarians that swept that power into oblivion? The mighty intellects, the greatest warriors, the men of science, the greatest brains in the world cannot stay the hand of death or the call of the grave. Death, the victor of victory, takes all, and the grave receives all."

"At such time Satan comes and on the first day takes those crushed with anguish to the cross. Look at it. He in whom you believed is dead." On the second day he takes you to the grave. There He is; the stone is before the tomb; it is sealed. This is the end. But Satan does not, he dares not, take you to the grave the third day to say, 'See the stone is rolled away. The place is empty. See where the Lord has laid. He is risen.'

"There is no death. We all live again. We go on, the thinker with his thoughts, the worker with his work. The resurrection has never been denied. The disciples, the women, the multitude saw their risen Lord, they talked with Him they knew Him. So we, too, shall know our dear ones. I have never doubted but that I shall see my father, talk with him hereafter. I know it."

"Spring tells the story of the resurrection. The cold days of winter, the black trees, the bushes without a sign of life. Spring comes, and in a week or two—what a change. Everything springs into life, the trees burst forth into blossom, the leaves put forth their tiny buds, it is the resurrection time. So with us. The sting of death has been swallowed up in victory. We know that our Redeemer liveth. That is the triumph of Easter, thanks be to God, which giveth us the victory."

OPENING SERVICE
HELD IN CHURCH

ANAHEIM, April 15.—The opening service of the newly erected Four Square Gospel lighthouse was held yesterday morning, with a large audience in attendance. The building, which was built during the past month, is located at 1417 West Broadway.

Dedication of the structure has been set for May 5, according to the pastor of the church, the Rev. Dorothy K. Runyan.

'Questions' Topic
Sermon Topic In
St. Peter Church

The Rev. G. F. Paeschert, pastor of St. Peter's Lutheran church, had as his sermon subject yesterday, "Questions, Wise and Foolish."

"A wise question is one whose answer is profitable for us," he said. "Knowledge is like a two-edged sword—in the hands of a fool, dangerous, but a wonderful weapon if used correctly."

Continuing his discourse, the minister said in part:

"Not all questions asked by the disciples of Jesus were wise. For the Savior to have answered them would have led to no beneficial purpose. Jesus never asked a foolish question. Not so Peter. Peter asks, 'Lord, what shall become of this man?' Jesus had just informed Peter that he would die a martyr's death. Now Peter becomes curious as to the end of John. To answer that question would have answered no real purpose, but might have done much harm."

"The word 'friendship' originally means a company of persons sitting together. There comes naturally from such a company, under those circumstances, familiar conversation, confidential intercourse and intimacy and friendship.

"There is a vital sense in which the natural man discerneth not the things of the Spirit of God, and in which all realities of Christian experience are hidden from his perception. To speak to him about these blessed realities is like reasoning with a blind man about colors or with one deaf about the harmony of music.

"It is neither learning nor labor that can give insight into God's secrets, those mysteries of the Kingdom of Heaven. These things come only by revelation and must therefore be obtained through prayer. Those that diligently seek Him shall be of His cabinet council, shall know His secret and be admitted into a gracious familiarity and friendship. 'Henceforth I call you not servants; for the servant knoweth not what His lord doeth; but I have called you friends; for all things that I have heard of my Father I have made known to you.'

"To the children of God death should hold no fear. They know that it is just a passing on into the place called heaven that Christ has prepared. If we know Christ and live for Him, we need not fear death."

"Every man contracts debts at some time during his life. The moment we are obligated to anybody, that obligation becomes a debt."

"The greatest debt we owe is that Christ died on the cross for every man and paid our debt of sin. So we owe Him a debt of love and life. Many such debts are not yet paid—all men do not yet acknowledge Christ. If we pay out debts, they will not stand against us at judgment, but if we don't pay them, they will always be before us."

"We believe in a personal devil. These last days before the second coming of Christ, the devil is busy. The Scripture says he goes around like a roaring lion, seeking whom he may devour. Many times the devil begins in the house of God and tempts especially the children of God."

"But we need not fear the power of the devil, because Christ is greater. His power is above all and in the name of Jesus we may rebuke every demon and the devil and the spirit of anti-Christ. Once we were bound by the chains of the devil, in our sin, but Christ hath liberated us and now we are no longer in bondage. We are free tonight through the precious blood of Jesus and at the judgment day we shall all rejoice to see the devil, the anti-Christ and the false prophet cast down into the lake of fire forever. We shall be with Christ eternally."

SAYS NONE CAN AVOID 'DEATH,
DEBTS, DEVIL'

"Death, Debts and The Devil" was the sermon subject of the Rev. Cecil F. Brown, pastor of the Four Square Gospel Lighthouse, yesterday.

"These three things no man can avoid," the minister declared and, continuing, said in part:

"All men must die eventually. Many folk fear death, many have the idea that death ends all, but according to the Scripture that is not true because to be absent from the body is to be present with the Lord."

"To the children of God death should hold no fear. They know that it is just a passing on into the place called heaven that Christ has prepared. If we know Christ and live for Him, we need not fear death."

"Every man contracts debts at some time during his life. The moment we are obligated to anybody, that obligation becomes a debt."

"The greatest debt we owe is that Christ died on the cross for every man and paid our debt of sin. So we owe Him a debt of love and life. Many such debts are not yet paid—all men do not yet acknowledge Christ. If we pay out debts, they will not stand against us at judgment, but if we don't pay them, they will always be before us."

INATTENTION IS HIT BY REV. BUCHANAN

"The Fatality of Inattention" was the subject of the Rev. Walter Scott Buchanan's sermon Sunday morning. Members of the congregation at the First Christian church yesterday were given vivid word pictures significant of the minister's subject.

"The attitude of innumerable people toward the great question of the religious life, is just the inattentive attitude of the rich man to Lazarus at his gate," the Rev. Buchanan declared.

"It is better sometimes to hate to ignore—for there is at least something positive in hatred. There is hope someday that your enemy may be your friend. But the man who takes his ease and takes no heed is the most difficult of all to deal with; and such is the common temper of the day."

"But we need not fear the power of the devil, because Christ is greater. His power is above all and in the name of Jesus we may rebuke every demon and the devil and the spirit of anti-Christ. Once we were bound by the chains of the devil, in our sin, but Christ hath liberated us and now we are no longer in bondage. We shall be with Christ eternally."

'FRIENDSHIP OF
LORD' IS TOPIC
OF REV. HICKS

In his Sunday morning sermon, the Rev. C. D. Hicks, pastor of the Christian and Missionary Alliance church, took for his text the words: "The Secret of the Lord Is With Them That Fear Him."

Interpreting the literal meaning of the text to be, "The Friendship of Jehovah Is to Those Fearing Him," the minister said in part:

"The word 'friendship' originally means a company of persons sitting together. There comes naturally from such a company, under those circumstances, familiar conversation, confidential intercourse and intimacy and friendship.

"There is a vital sense in which the natural man discerneth not the things of the Spirit of God, and in which all realities of Christian experience are hidden from his perception. OPTIMISM' TOPIC
OF REV. BUCHANAN
IN CLASS ADDRESS

The Rev. Walter Scott Buchanan, pastor of the First Christian church and teacher of the Men's Community Bible class, spoke on the subject, "The Optimism of Jesus Christ," at the meeting of the class held Sunday morning.

He said in part:

"There is the optimist who sees sunshine in everything and believes there is no trouble, no difficulties, no problems, no pain and no sorrow. Such a person is unworthy of the name optimist. A real optimist is one who knows that there are difficulties, problems, pain and sorrow but at the same time strives to overcome them."

The pessimist is one who thinks the world is going to the bad and that there is nothing to be saved from the wreckage. That man is also a detriment. The real optimist is one who sees that we have troubles and sorrows, but knows that they can be overcome."

"There are some people in the world who cannot seem to take a definite position in regard to anything. We usually think of them as policy men; what some folks call 'wishes-wishes.' Moses was not of that type. When he had reached the age of discretion he definitely refused to be identified with the oppressors of his nation and took his place among the eleventh chapter of this epistle.

"What Matthew has set down of the Gethsemane scene Hoffman has put on canvas. A mystery we cannot understand and before which we dare not be too curious broods over this night scene. Of this we can be certain that back of every great achievement is a supreme endeavor.

"Great things do not happen. A submarine cable is not an accident. A transcontinental train is not the creation of a magic wand. Back of all the marvelous devices of our civilization is the organizing genius and the indomitable will of man."

"Success is not easily won in any field. Audubon, the naturalist, and ornithologist, whose name is inseparably associated with the feathered flocks of the sky made a great many original drawings. Rats destroyed them and he thought he was ruined, but after a few days, he says, 'I took up my gun my note book, my pencil, and went back to the woods as gayly as if nothing had happened and by three years I had filled my portfolio again.'

"One of the finest pieces of writing that ever dropped from the pen of Thomas Carlyle was his interpretation of the French Revolution. Before it was published he loaned the manuscript to a friend. When he asked for its return it was discovered that his friend's servant had used it to

Glee Club Dances Equals Expectations of Members

Equaling all of the expectations of members of the Glee club of the American Legion auxiliary was the dance sponsored by the club Saturday night at the Legion hall for it was one of the friendliest and merriest of crowds possible that gathered there for an evening of dancing and cards.

Traveller's orchestra presented the music for the dances and an especially delightful program was presented during the intermission.

The program was opened by two numbers by the First Presbyterian quartet, Alex Garroway, Walter Vieira, Fred Wilde, and Hugh Rundles, who sang "Plantation" and burlesques on "Rigoletto." Miss Ruth Armstrong accompanied at the piano.

Charming Mrs. Harold O. Rasmussen delighted her audience with "Is There Anything Wrong In That" followed by an encore number, equally entertaining.

Very lovely in their new evening frocks of blue and gold, members of the Glee club presented three songs, "Gondola Song," "Neopolitan Nights" and "Hinkey Dinkie."

As a special courtesy to the Community Players' association, members of the cast of "Officer 668" presented last week at the Yost Spurzine theater, were introduced. They included Alex Garroway, Charles Haas, Kiyoshi Higashii, Orlo Householder, Harry Edwards, Blythe McCusland, Jimmie Carlson, Gene Douglas, Leonard Coffman, Wilbur, Miss Dorothy Mayhew, Mrs. Fanny Reeves and Mrs. Joseph Snyder.

"Happy" Wintz of El Segundo, known throughout the Legion as a comedian, presented the various selections in clever manner.

During the evening, punch was dispensed to thirsty dancers by a committee including Mrs. Jessie Johnson, Mrs. R. H. McCalla, Mrs. Grover Fultz, Mrs. James Utt, and Miss Marjory Rawlings.

For those not interested in dancing, bridge games were arranged in the card room under the supervision of Mrs. Franklin G. West and Mrs. Charles Nusbaumer. Attractive prizes were won by Mrs. Harry Edwards, Miss Louise Montgomery, Fred Wilde and Gene Robinson.

J. E. PLEASANTS CELEBRATES HIS BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY

One of the few forty-niners yet living, Judge J. E. Pleasants of Santiago canyon, was honored yesterday at a delightful affair planned for him by Mrs. Pleasants in honor of his ninetieth birthday anniversary. More than 100 friends of Mr. and Mrs. Pleasants gathered at their home to celebrate the occasion.

Included among the guests were Orange county pioneers who have known Judge Pleasants for many of the years that have passed since he came to this county years ago to take charge of the William Wolfskill ranch in Santiago canyon. And there were those who have met him in more recent years and who have learned to love him for his unfailing friendliness and kindness.

Tables were arranged beneath the oak trees in the attractive garden at the Pleasants home and delicious sandwiches, cake, coffee, and punch were served by Mrs. Pleasants and her bevy of assistants that included Mrs. W. N. Caseley of Long Beach, Miss Anne Robinson of Trabuco canyon, Miss Marguerite McIntosh, Mrs. Matilda Lemon, Miss Eleanor Lemon, Miss Kate Travis, of Yorba, Miss Louise Stephenson, and J. B. Stephenson of Descanso.

The beautiful birthday cake had been presented by Mr. Pleasants to the lovely Santa Ana girl soon to join their family circle.

Card tables had been placed in the big drawing room, and dainty tables appropriately picturing a veiled bride, were distributed for bridge. At the close of the ensuing session, Mrs. Henry Williams was awarded first prize, a handsome framed picture, with a linen and lace vanity set going to Miss Constance Cruickshank, and a colorful tea set to Miss Lota Blythe.

Bringing the happy afternoon to a conclusion, was the serving of refreshments for which the popular square trays, previously arranged with lace doilies and wedding bell centerpieces, were employed. Ices served were frozen in the four card moulds.

Miss Smiley is one of the most popular girls in the city. She is a graduate of University of California at Berkeley, and a member of Alpha Chi Omega, holding the presidency this year of the Pan Hellenic society. She is teacher of mathematics and English at Frances E. Willard junior high school, and it was there that her romance with Mr. Lund blossomed, for he is head of the boy's physical education department. He is a graduate of the University of Redlands.

For the past two years, the atmosphere of the Smiley home has been redolent of engagements and marriages. Miss Helen Smiley was a lovely bride of a year and a half ago, and announcement of her engagement to Howard Lutz was followed by a succession of delightful events culminating in their marriage in the "Little Church of the Flowers" at Glendale. Then in April of last year, Miss Elaine Wharton, niece of the home, was honored at a party given by her cousins, to announce her engagement to Henry Williams. Their wedding in June was also in the Little Church of the Flowers, but when Miss Smiley and Mr. Lund chose their wedding date for exactly one year later, they announced that they were departing from the precedent thus established, and would be wedded in the bride's home. This will coincide with the wishes of many of their close friends, who have felt that the Smiley home was one strikingly adapted for such a formal affair as a wedding.

Close friends who were bidden to be the first to hear the delightful news and enjoy the hospitality of Mrs. Smiley and Mrs. Lutz included in addition to Mrs. Lund and Miss Helen Lund, Mrs. J. W. Abbey (Ruth Violette) also of San Bernardino; Mrs. J. A. Sugars and Miss Helen Lowrey, Los Angeles; Mrs. J. W. Cassidy, Long Beach; Miss Jane McBurney, Mrs. C. E. Seales, Mrs. Thomas L. Willits, Miss Ruth Armstrong, Mrs. Arnold Norton, (Helen Bowers), Miss Constance Cruickshank, Mrs. Burr Shaffer, Mrs. Charles H. Hyde, Mrs. Robert Jeffrey, Mrs. Henry Williams, Mrs. Emmett Elliott, Miss Janey Wilde, Miss Elizabeth Phillips, Mrs. R. Carson Smith, Miss Edith Plavan, Miss Wilma Plavan, Miss Lota Blythe, Miss Frances Battley, Miss Vanche Plumb and Miss Martha McPeak.

Los Angeles Friends Guests at House Party

E. D. Burge entertained a group of Los Angeles friends at a delightful week-end party at his beautiful home on East First street.

His guests arrived Saturday night in time for an attractively appointed dinner that was followed by an evening of gay conversation and music. Especially entertaining was the group of songs presented by Ed Mulford of radio fame.

Following Sunday morning breakfast the entire party motored to Newport Beach where Mr. Burge's new yacht, Valencia, was inspected. Beach sports were enjoyed during the remainder of the day and in the late afternoon the group returned to the Burge home where dinner was served.

Mr. Burge's guests included Mr. and Mrs. Ed Mulford, Mrs. Laura Hughes, Mrs. Harriet Humboldt and her son, Douglas Humboldt, Hallet Thorne, Miss Dorothy Bell, and Miss Anita King.

CHURCH CLUBS FRATERNAL WOMEN SOCIETY THE HOME WEDDINGS FASHIONS HOUSEHOLD

The WOMAN'S DAY By ALLEN SUMNER

For over six months, Miss Nellie Vedder, a student in the University of Chicago, got meals three times a day, washed dishes three times a day, and did all the orthodox "reding up" while one assistant held a stop-watch and another counted her movements, as she tried various methods.

When the six months were up she wrote a thesis about it, aimed to show that most, if not all housewives, since the day of Eve, had wasted millions of yards of energy and time, all told, by their hit-and-miss methods in domestic duties.

Miss Vedder's thesis discussed three methods of table setting, dishwashing and general "reding up," the slowest method requiring 38 minutes, 8 seconds, and 1954 motions for a day's worth of dishes in the average family of four, the fastest requiring only 22 minutes, 31 seconds, and 1015 motions.

THE BETTER WAY

While the public has not as yet been taken into real confidence as to the difference in the methods, it is revealed that for the housewife who insists on "doing" the dishes after each meal, thought the author implies that she really thinks the once-a-day method is most efficient, the preferable process is to have all the dishes passed at the end of the meal to mama, who scrapes them as she places them on a tea-tray at her right. They are then rolled into the kitchen, given a rapid cold rinse, washed under the tap in the hot water, placed in a wire drain with hot rinsing water poured over them, and thus steam-dried. Miss Vedder intimates that "wiping the dishes" is as archaic as making bread or sausage.

Now, harmless and innocent as this treatise seems, one can imagine no more brilliant scarlet flag wafted in the faces of womankind, for if there's one thing which the mass of women resent it's any other woman's intimation that she knows more about how housewifey duties should be performed than she does.

I know a certain daughter who has struggled, really tactfully, for several years to convert her mother to the theory of a dish drainer as simpler and more sanitary than "drying" with a towel, and nothing in the bosom of the family precipitates such quarreling.

I know a mother-in-law who doesn't speak to her son-in-law because he essayed to tell her daughter that certain of her housekeeping methods handed on as traditions from her mother were all wrong, mostly because they were dissimilar from certain methods of his own mother.

WISE CRACKS DUE

Many raucous wise cracks will be made, too, at the idea of a scientific collegiate thesis on the subject of dishwashing. Queerly enough, as many wise cracks will be made by women who like to pretend that they are engaged in a serious and noble profession as by men who have an idea that domestic gimerckery is nothing much more than a sweet all-day sucker.

Which is exactly why there are more wasted motions in the job domestic today than in any other. Women themselves have done more to hamper the same advance in substitutes for drudgery that has been made in the outside-the-home realm than anyone else.

Sometimes one wonders if subconsciously it isn't a whole-hearted wifely attempt to make the world cling to the idea that domestic drudgery is just that and nothing more, so that wifely rewards and appreciations will be greater than if it is generally accepted that they don't have it so hard, after all.

For instance, just how many hausfrau will really try to find out which dishwashing method saves them the 15 minutes, 27 seconds, and 939 motions a day?

"What does she know about it?" they'll ask, and perhaps they're right.

Timing one's movements in a classroom is one thing. Trying to wash dishes with the kids fighting, and a peddler at the door is another.

ANGEL FOOD CAKE

Angel food cake is the recipe for today and that leaves us with a lot of egg yolks all dressed up and nowhere to go. We might make Gold Cake with them but as a cake it isn't a lot to recommend it . . . too rich and too heavy. But how about making a rich custard and using it as an ice cream base?

FRENCH ICE CREAM

2 cups milk
10 egg yolks
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup heavy cream
1 tablespoon vanilla
Shredded candied fruit
Shredded blanched almonds
Heat the milk in a double boiler, beat the egg yolks with the sugar and a pinch of salt and add to the hot milk. Stir until cooked to a thick custard. Remove and cool. Whip the cream very stiff, flavor with vanilla and mix with the custard. Fold in the candied fruits and almonds, just a small amount of each, and start one freezing operation. In the refrigerator, it takes 4 1/2 hours and about the same if packed in ice and salt. Stir every half hour for two hours if using electric refrigeration.

TODAY'S RECIPE

ANGEL FOOD CAKE
White flour 10 large eggs
1/2 cup fine sifted sugar
1/2 teaspoon almond extract
1/2 teaspoon salt

1 cup softed pastry flour
1 level teaspoon cream of tartar

Angel Food Cake is so easy to make I wonder that so few cooks attempt it. A reasonable excuse is the high price of eggs, but at this time of year we can't drag that out and use it. Careful mixing and careful baking are two things you must watch. First we'll put it together.

Put the whites into a deep bowl, have them very cold and use a big egg beater. When beaten to the frothy stage, and I mean that and not the dry stage, add the cream of tartar, and start adding the sugar, about 2 teaspoonsful at a time, continuing the beating.

The fineness of the sugar is an important point: roll it if it is not dust-fine and sift through the finest meshed sieve you have. The sugar must partially melt in the mixing to make the cake light.

When all the sugar is in fold all mixing must be the folding variety. When the flour is in pour the batter into a tube pan rinsed in cold water and start the baking in a very cool oven, 275 degrees F., raising the temperature after the cake has risen to 325 degrees.

An hour or better is required for baking, the cake is done when it shrinks away from the sides of the pan. Invert and let stand until it falls out of its own accord.

Do you know how to make a perfect Jelly Roll, the kind that really does roll? And Gingerbread that is light and yet dark and gingery? A stamped, self-addressed envelope brings you a leaflet with the two recipes described in detail . . . free this week only.

Quick Relief From Constipation

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 20 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, just a healing, soothing vegetable laxative mixed with olive oil.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets.

They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth" — bad breath — the feeling of a headache-torpid liver-constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take them every night to keep right. Try them. 15c, 30c, 60c.—Adv.

Pleasant Trip
Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Sohre, the Misses Rosella, Margaret and Gloria and Waldo Sohre, Tustin avenue, spent Sunday at Forest Home.

Go East

Mrs. Virginia Skiles, 373 North Pine street, will leave New York City in company with Mrs. Robert Locke who lives in Springfield, Mass. They will make the trip east on the Yellow Motor Transit line and will leave from Los Angeles at eight o'clock in the morning.

Bridge Luncheon

Mrs. Harry Upham, of Covina, was hostess to a group of Orange women, Thursday at her home in that city, at a beautifully appointed bridge luncheon. Mrs. Upham used the tulip, one of the blossoms that early heralds the coming of springtime, in her decorations. The centerpiece was of these flowers and a single lovely blossom was at the place of each guest.

Place cards and score cards were shaped like tulips and were in shades of lavender and pink. At the bridge game head honors were awarded to Mrs. John Adams, second prize going to Mrs. Walter Gregg while Mrs. Jack Fletcher was third.

Those sharing the delightful occasion, were Mesdames A. R. Smith, Harry Huff, Walter Gregg, J. D. Thomas, J. R. Keller, Jack Fletcher, John Adams, J. R. Porter and Clyde Watson, of Orange. Mrs. Margaret Harper of Orange, was a special guest. Mrs. K. V. Wolfe who formerly lived in Orange but now lives in Covina, was also present.

Theater Party

Members of the Los Feliz club are planning a theater party in Santa Ana next week. The club includes a group of intimate friends who meet informally twice a month for a bridge game or an evening of chat and needlework.

Huntington Beach

Interesting Meeting

One of the most interesting meetings of the Book club was held recently at the home of Mrs. T. B. Talbert. Mrs. John Tessman, San Ana and junior college instructor, gave a splendid informative review of Beard's "Whither Mankind." Mrs. Tessman also reviewed several other late books which have aroused much comment in library circles.

More than 20 women were present. The club is unique in that it has no regular membership, no club dues, and no officers. All those interested in books are privileged to attend the interesting sessions.

J. O. C.

The members of the J. O. C. class of the Methodist church enjoyed a delightful party at the home of Mrs. Mabel Adair recently. An elaborate luncheon was served after the business meeting and an entertaining program presented.

Attending the affair were Mrs. J. M. Barnhart, Mrs. John Siemers, Mrs. R. E. Hawes, Mrs. I. H. Clark, Mrs. Gale Galbraith, Mrs. Jack Colvin, Mrs. Eva Milbrat, Mrs. J. C. Clark, Mrs. Fay Clapp, Mrs. Lottie Uhliman, Mrs. Ethel Wells, Mrs. Lloyd Hager, Mrs. M. Miller, Mrs. Allen Gisler.

TOMORROW

STAR AT BROADWAY IS FOND OF VENICE

"Tide of Empire," Peter B. Kyne's epic of the California gold rush which opened yesterday at the West Coast-Walker theater, is more than a mere film play. It is really a pageant of a remarkable page in history, and at the same time is a romance as delicate as a flower, set against the surge and thunder of adventure.

"Tide of Empire" is on an unusual and romantic theme, and whose setting is in that dream city!" declared Maria Corda, Milton Sills' leading lady in "Love and the Devil," a striking picture which opened yesterday at the Yost Broadway theater.

"Love and the Devil" is on an unusual and romantic theme, and the work of Milton Sills as the star, shows that same remarkable power of character delineation that is bringing him to the fore as one of the finest of the world of motion picture players. Miss Corda gives him splendid support, and their work is augmented by that of other members of a well-arranged cast.

The setting for "Love and the Devil" is Venice, which explains Miss Corda's thorough sympathy with her role. "New York is glorious," she declared. "London is impressive; Paris, fascinating, and Vienna, inspiring. But Venice is romance, heart thrills, love, soft moonlight across the water!"

All around her on the motion picture lot where she talked, were completed sets representing Venice. Those near were elaborate and beautiful but on other parts of the stage were sets of a different nature.

"No," she said slowly, "Venice is not all one great Doge palace nor one Grand canal. There are small houses, narrower canals, I know them too. I can close my eyes and see the place where I think Giovanna, the lady I am supposed to be in this picture, goes to kill herself."

These sets are to be seen in the completed picture which will continue up to and including Wednesday, at the Broadway.

With it is some entertaining vaudeville and the usual amusing comedy reels interpreted with the use of Vitaphone. Today and tomorrow will have as well, the Southern California scenes from the studios of a Santa Ana company, Forman and Gilbert.

WEST END

A typical Ted Wells picture full of thrills and exciting situations opened last night at the West End theater. It is "Born to the Saddle," a Universal western feature which found instantanous favor in the eyes of the audience as the best film Wells has turned out for Universal in many a day.

Presenting the popular star in the role of a millionaire cowboy who becomes protector of a beautiful girl and her wealthy father from a gang of outlaws, the picture moves rapidly with Ted Wells providing the audience with thick upon thrill.

Wells is supported by an excellent cast, with Duane Thompson playing the featured lead. Miss Thompson, whose beauty and talent have graced many Wells pictures, portrays the girl who eventually falls in love with Wells. Always an actress depended upon to give a good performance, she is seen in one of the most outstanding roles of her career in this film.

The Tinymites were tickled pink. Said Scouty, "Oh, gee, just to think that we're to go through Thunderland. It fills me with delight. Before we found the Thunder Man I almost turned and quickly ran away from here. I thought that we were in an awful plight."

The clouds seem, oh, so very high, up here within the misty sky that I was really frightened, but I feel quite safe right now. It seems, when we get in a mess, we have a heap of luck, I guess. No matter what our trouble is, we come through fine, somehow."

Then Clowdy piped up, "Well, let's go! I'll be real tickled when I know how Mister Thunder Man runs things up in his weather land. I've seen it snow and seen it, but I would like to see much more. If everything's explained to us, I'm sure we'll understand."

The Thunder Man said, "Well, you see, the weather's sort of up to me. If I think rain is needed, I just turn a storm cloud loose. But, if the earth needs bright sunlight, I keep the rain clouds closed up tight. I could have rain fall all the time, but, frankly, what's the use?"

They walked through Thunderland a ways, and Clowdy said, "I'm in a daze about the way you make the thunder that we often hear." The Thunder Man snapped, "Well, right now, I'll very gladly show you how. You'll hear a lot of noise, but there is nothing to need fear."

He reached behind a nearby cloud and soon surprised the little crowd. He held a monstrous thunder drum, and then exclaimed, real gruff, "Now hold your ears. I'm going to beat." The Tinies found this was no treat. Soon Clowdy yelled, "Oh, kindly stop. We all have had enough."

A LAUGH FOR EVERYBODY

By MARTIN

BOOTS AND HER BUDDIES

It's Getting Serious

IT AIN'T SAFE! SHE FLIES ALL KINDS OF PLANES, ALL TIMES OF TH' DAY—WHY, MY GOSH—WOT IF SOMETHIN' SHOULD HAPPEN TO HER!

ALL I DO IS WORRY ABOUT HER! SHE'S TOO YOUNG FOR A TOUGH GAME LIKE THAT—it takes up too much of her time! WHY, SHE'S BUSIED TO DEATH—DOESN'T HAVE TIME FOR ANYTHING ANY MORE

WORLD'S NEED FOR GUIDANCE IS EXPLAINED

"The Prophet" was the subject of the Sunday sermon delivered by the Rev. Roy P. Hilton, pastor of the First Church of the Brethren. He said in part:

"Running down through the history of the Israelitish religion and Judaism and Christianity there are two parallel lines or types of the essential, qualifying characteristics of those religions. I refer to the priestly and the prophetic. When the former was the dominating character there was corruption and lack of spirituality and decadence. When the latter was in the ascendancy there was progress and a very marked degree of spiritual life. It was a good sign when the people turned to the prophet for guidance. If there was any character that distinguished the great prophet it was his opposition to sin."

"In the nature of the case there were certain qualifications for a prophet. Chief among these qualifications are: he must be called of God, he must be inspired of God, he must possess a high quality of wisdom and understanding, he must be always in God's hands. The paramount task of the prophet is to reveal God's will.

"Law after all can be nothing more than an expression of will. If it is in a democracy it is the expression of the will of the people. If it is in a true religion it is the expression of the will of God. The priests of Israel said keep the law. The prophets of Israel said do the will of God. The same lines are drawn today. The priestly element in the church insists upon legalism and formal observance of rites and ceremonies and the prophetic spirit of the body dictates a different course.

The one holds to a course that is mapped and charted. The other is led by a great vision to pioneer his way and blaze his trail to the virgin hills of a new achievement until he rests in the eternal presence of the Son of God."

NEW YORK, April 15.—Babe Ruth has his mind on the forthcoming pennant race and not on matrimony, the Yankee slugger said today, denying a report that he was to be married this afternoon and the chief duty of the prophet was and is to reveal God's will.

LABOR DISTURBANCES IN THE SOUTH

Labor disturbances are breaking out all over the South. That region is getting a real taste of the conflict with which the North has been contending for many years. It began in Tennessee, and is now extending through the Carolinas. Already some 16,000 workers are involved. A movement to organize the 300,000 textile workers is on. Strikes and walk-outs are increasing. The organizing is being done by the American Federation of Labor, but in some places where the working conditions have been the worst, the more radical organizations are gaining a foothold. Some of the wiser and more conciliatory employers quickly made adjustments, and the trouble was soon over; but in some cases high-handed methods were employed to break the strike. In Elizabeth, Tenn., two of the organizers were met at their hotels by a business men's committee armed with shot guns and spirited out of the state, with the threat that if they returned they would be shot. This aroused the officials of the A. F. of L. and demands were made from Washington that these kidnappers should be detected and punished. On a recent Sunday President Green of the A. F. of L. went to Elizabeth and spoke at a mass meeting of the strikers and the people of the surrounding country. Already some of the business men have been arrested. Needless to say, such tactics are the very worst that could be employed by employers or business men. It always has an unfavorable reaction. This is especially the case when pure Anglo-Saxon stock is involved, as is the case in the South.

There is a variety of reasons for these disturbances. In Tennessee the strike is for better wages, shorter hours, and better working conditions. In the Carolinas it was the introduction of an efficiency system to increase production without a corresponding increase in wages. The workers in the South resent outside interference. That applies not only to efficiency experts, but to some extent to outside labor leaders. If employers could only learn that workers must be understood, and that the workers of the South are of an entirely new set of industrial relationships—but it was passed up, with the results that are clearly manifest. Industry has become a great partnership today. Recognition of that has made the General Motors Corporation the most prosperous corporation of the world. In dealing with its executives, its agents, and its workers, it has always considered them a part of the enterprise, and sought their good will and co-operation. This will have to obtain in large industry generally. In small industries, where there is still an acquaintance between the boss and the worker, it is much easier to come to personal understanding.

John Drinkwater, British playwright, arrived in America the other day. Do you suppose that's a part of the new dry campaign?

CHURCH ATTENDANTS IN THE ARMY

It has been shown that soldiers in the army are more regular church attendants than civilians. Statistics show that the average attendance is 13 Sundays a year for each enlisted man. That is a high average, especially when we recall that these are all young men. At a Good Friday service in one of our American cities, held under the auspices of all the Protestant churches, the church building was well filled, and the auditorium was large. But the extraordinary fact was that the congregation was made up almost entirely of elderly people. There was scarcely a single young man and young woman around the twenties in that large congregation, as the writer observed. This is typical in the average church congregation.

The explanation for the larger attendance of enlisted army men, according to the United States Army Recruiting News, is the army chaplain. "There is something about the make-up of an army chaplain," says this paper, "that inspires infinite faith and respect for him in the rank and file of our army. As soldiers have expressed it, 'He speaks our language. He knows our language. He is one of us'."

There may be other reasons, but surely here is a situation worth thinking about. We wonder if there is not a greater reality under such circumstances than where a more conventional group are accustomed to meet. There are too many hangovers in the average church service which mean little to the young. These hangovers do not embarrass the army chaplain as they do the ordinary minister in the church.

Postmaster General Brown is starting a big shakeup in his department. Probably he's seeking men of a better stamp.

LIFE ON THE MOON

Recent astronomers, through huge reflector telescopes, have brought the moon within a hundred miles of human sight. That is getting pretty near. That is some advance over Galileo who saw it through his telescope only over a distance of 10,000 miles. There is hope that before long it will be brought even nearer, and that all of us may be able to see just what is going on there from day to day.

Wonders never cease. With certainty we are told that the moon is a burned cinder. Great volcanoes with craters of from 20 to 200 miles are distinctly visible. Great plains, more desolate than anything conceived of by imagination of Dante or Milton, have been discovered. By a very simple method of computation we learn that the force of gravitation is only one sixth of that of the earth, that Babe Ruth's swat would drive a ball a mile, that a man could carry 600 pounds there where he carries only 100 here, and that we would be so nimble that we could jump easily over a barn. Still, we prefer to stay here, where the grass is green, the flowers bloom, where there are ponds in which to swim; even though the load we carry is six times as heavy. The good, old, green little earth with all its trials is a pretty good place to live on, and most of us have no desire to depart.

THE END OF "GYP" GARAGES

Two hundred garage owners in Michigan have united in an organization to drive out of business those "gyp" garages which have been overcharging for their work and doing it poorly. Each of the members of this organization is pledged to give the customer an absolutely square deal.

Such an organization ought to be welcome to all owners of automobiles. There are too many roadside plumbers in the business whose object seems to be to do little and charge a great deal. The aim is to extend this organization to all the states. They would be accredited just as hotels and tourist houses are accredited now. The tourist would feel when he saw that accredited sign that good work at just rates would be done. There would be every inducement to be honest, because to lose the recognition of the organization would mean the loss of business.

Most of us have suffered from these roadside plumbers, and would heartily welcome the organization of garages of the better and the more honest class.

Ananias is dead and gone, of course, but just think of the lovely stories he could tell if he were living today about the photographers Tunney used to punch in the nose before he won the heavyweight championship.

TURNING OFFICERS INTO COOKS

The old maxim that any army travels—or is it "fights"?—on its stomach is given added confirmation in new tactics just adopted by the U. S. War department.

Army officers, under these new orders, have to learn how to cook. At Fort Sam Houston, in Texas, for instance, there is a class of 13 commissioned officers studying the mechanics of preparing army rations. They are learning how to get meals—everything from beef stew to salad and pumpkin pie. The theory, no doubt, is that officers with such knowledge will be able to oversee the work of the company cooks much better, and thus will be able to make sure that their men are getting the proper kind of food.

The War Department, to our notion, is showing excellent judgment. The soldier is a great one to grumble over his lot; but the grumbling is never really serious unless it concerns the food he is getting. If he is fed properly, he doesn't so much mind his other troubles; and if he isn't, his dissatisfaction rapidly becomes acute.

"Politics" In Wisconsin

Fresno Morning Republican

We expect to hear a lot of ridicule of Wisconsin because there is a proposal to oust Governor Kohler.

We hope that the citizens of Wisconsin will be more directly concerned with the facts charged against Kohler than they are in the social question of impeachment.

It is not a nice thing for Oklahoma to remove two successive governors. And it is not a nice thing for Louisiana to impeach her governor.

But it would be far worse for our state of public opinion to be so spineless that it is averse to removing governors because to remove them would not "look well."

To be sure, in the case of the Wisconsin governor, it may be a case of "just politics."

Kohler has been elected in spite of the firm grip of the La Follette faction in state politics, which has controlled there for 20 years.

The La Follette faction is resentful over loss of patronage and control of legislation.

Its leaders will do much in order to punish a man like Kohler who has beaten them at the political game.

But the Kohler victory should not have been accomplished in violation of law or of good political conduct.

If the election was crooked, let the people of Wisconsin have the political courage to acknowledge it.

But if it was straight, then the charges must not be made the mere excuse for "changing horses" back again.

London Tastes In Movies

New York Times

Movies are changing character so rapidly that it must be hard to get definite information about the preferences of large audiences. By the time votes are taken, questionnaires sent out and replies compiled, the dexterous art of the movies may sound quite different. But a large cinema syndicate of London has just taken a census of what its audiences prefer.

Of the 250,000 who voted, 16 per cent go to the movies twice a week and 14 per cent often. The results may therefore be taken as the voice of true movie fans.

The subject of the talkies, the vote of the men was fifty-fifty. The women voted 70 per cent in favor of the silent movies. This may be interpreted as an indication that men are more progressive than women, and are quick to adapt themselves to innovations, or, on the other hand, it may mean that women are more exacting in their tastes and prefer the finished quality of the silent movies to the rasping deficiencies of the talkies.

Another unexpected result of the vote showed that 38 per cent of the voters preferred unhappy endings. Every one is familiar with the soft-hearted girl who goes cheerfully to the theater, well supplied with handkerchiefs and sympathy. But no box office would ever have credited the statement that nearly half of its customers buy tickets hoping for a picture with a sad finale.

Insurance Service By Mr. Coolidge

Pasadena Star-News

For the second time, in recent years, a former President of the United States has assumed an active interest in life insurance. Grover Cleveland had a business connection of this kind from 1905 until his death in 1908. And now Calvin Coolidge has been elected to the board of directors of a great life insurance company in New York. Mr. Coolidge takes the place made vacant by the death of Ambassador Myron T. Herrick.

Mr. Coolidge, in deciding to accept the proffer of a place on this great insurance board, was swayed by reasons based upon the inherent importance, usefulness and integrity of the life-insurance business. Mr. Coolidge, in accepting the nomination to this insurance post, gave expression to his sentiments as follows:

Believing that life insurance is the most effective instrumentality for the promotion of industry, saving and character ever devised; that a well-managed mutual company is a co-operative society for the advancement of the public welfare . . . I accept the nomination you have tendered me.

This tribute to the great business of life insurance is merited. That the American people believe in insurance, and that their faith is justified, is attested by the fact that there is today some $100,000,000,000 of life insurance in effect in the United States.

More Truth Than Poetry

THE GRAND OLD GAME

On reading that bridge may displace poker as the American pastime

You don't need to know any take-out or lead,
Or keep track of the cards as they fall,
There aren't any books that you've just got to read
And lessons won't help you at all.
You can learn all the rules in an hour or so
But you rarely will make a pot
Unless by some instinct or other you know
If the other chap's bluffing or not.
While far from an expert I venture the claim
That bridge may be science, but poker's a game.

You never could learn from a whole shelf of books
How to fathom another man's mind
And to make shrewd guess by the way that he looks
That's he's betting on four of a kind.
But ante and draw for some twenty-odd years
While the fickle jade Luck you pursue
And you'll find by and by that the mind-reading seers
Have got very little on you.
Having done this myself I am here to report
That bridge may be science, but poker's a sport.

You can never play bridge without knowing your stuff
But a glance into other men's faces
Will teach you how much they depend upon bluff
Or whether they're backing three aces.
Bridge may be a fine intellectual game
Involving a high type of skill
And craft and finesse—but I'll state just the same
That poker's my preference still.
And though others deride me, I know in my heart,
That bridge may be science, but poker is art!

Dr. Frank Crane's Friendly Talk

By Dr. Frank Crane

EGOTISM

If you will examine the matter carefully, you will see that one thing that is the continual ingredient of what we do not like about a person is egotism. We just naturally re-pel from the egotist.

Egotism to our souls is like a bad smell to our noses, an ugly sight to our eyes, discordant ears, an unpleasant flavor to our taste, or a thorn to our hands.

The religion of Jesus He himself summed up in the great commandment that we are to love our neighbor as ourselves. Christianity is essentially a religion of the other fellow.

All thieves, burglars, murderers and pickpockets are egotists.

Every harlot is an egotist.

All drunkenness, sex perversion, dope taking and so on, are derivatives of egotism.

A good dose of humility is a cure for almost anything. Self-abnegation will heal almost all personal differences, just as it would solve all international disputes.

When a capitalist becomes an egotist he fails to get along with his labor. Egotism in the laborer makes him an anarchist or an ass.

If capitalists and laborers could gather around a common council table and lock out Mr. Egotism they could all settle their differences in short order.

Just as modern surgery owes most of its excellence and progress to the elimination of dirt, so modern political economy will get more and more the right track as it eliminates egotism.

Egotism is the reason why a preacher is unpopular and a school teacher is unsuccessful, also why a business man is universally disliked.

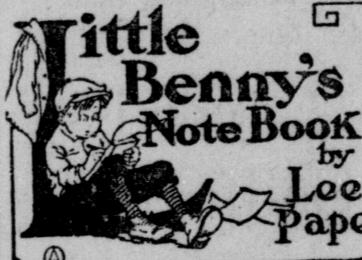

The curious thing about this trouble is that it is easy to see in another, while it is almost impossible to detect in ourselves.

Egotism is as deadly in the Bolshevik as it ever was in the czar.

Is not the devil an egotist? We recognize it when we say, "as proud as Lucifer," whereas the Son of God called Himself "the servant of all."

What this whole world needs is a liberal dose of humility and self-abnegation.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By Glenn Frank

STATE UNIVERSITIES AND RELIGION

The attitude of state universities towards religion is a matter of national importance.

I happen to be president of a state university which, by legislative direction, may not teach religion in the sense of the promotion of any creed.

This is, I think, a wise provision.

A state university should not be the forces of any particular creed.

Young men and young women of all creeds and of no creed must be free to meet and mingle in its halls.

Supported by all, it must be the servant of all.

And yet, despite its obligation to observe a scrupulous fairness in the midst of an unhappily large array of sects and separations, a state university which makes no effort to stimulate in its sons and daughters a sensitiveness to the spiritual issues of existence becomes a danger instead of a defense to the state.

This year at the university I serve we undertook the following interesting and, as it proved, profitable procedure.

Three student-faculty convocations were called in which we faced the issues of life and destiny with distinguished spokesmen of the Roman Catholic communion, the Jewish communion, and the Protestant communion.

If those who speak and those who listen face their respective responsibilities free alike from the sins of flippancy and of fanaticism, bowing neither to blind cynicism nor to blind credulity, no more significant enterprise can arise upon a university campus than the coming together of students and faculty humbly and honestly to consider the abiding issues of life and destiny.
